

Contribution by Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) to the 2026 Rule of Law Report - European Commission

Rule of law and human rights

The ‘rule of law’ is a concept at the heart of the United Nations’ mission. It refers to a principle of governance which is consistent with international human rights standards (S/2004/616). There is no rule of law within societies if human rights are not protected and human rights cannot be protected in societies without a strong rule of law. This interlinkage is reiterated by the UN Secretary-General in his New Vision for the Rule of Law:

“Human rights and the rule of law are mutually reinforcing – the advancement of the rule of law is essential for the protection of all human rights, and human rights are central to the rule of law.”

Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR)

The Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), also known as UN Human Rights Office, is the main human rights entity of the UN to protect and promote all human rights for everyone everywhere. The High Commissioner for Human Rights leads OHCHR. He is the principal human rights official of the United Nations.

OHCHR is mandated by the UN General Assembly to promote and protect the enjoyment and full realization, by all people, of all human rights. As part of its mandate, OHCHR works to mainstream human rights to strengthen the rule of law (Management Plan 2024 - 2027).

Established in 2009, OHCHR Regional Office for Europe (ROE) aims to advance the protection and promotion of human rights in the European Union and its Member States. ROE works to mainstream international human rights standards to strengthen the rule of law in the EU by engaging in and contributing to the European Commission’s Rule of Law Report. ROE furthermore promotes the UN human rights mechanisms and processes by giving their work visibility at the regional level.

OHCHR’s contribution

The current submission consists of a compilation of findings and recommendations contained in reports of UN human rights monitoring mechanisms including treaty-based mechanism (international human rights treaties), and Charter-based mechanism (special procedures and the Universal Periodic Review of the UN Human Rights Council). It further draws on statements and reports by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights and the High Commissioner’s office (see diagram on the next page).

In line with the scope of the European Commission’s Rule of Law Report, this contribution covers 27 Member States of the European Union and four candidate States, namely, Albania, Montenegro, North Macedonia and Serbia.

UN human rights monitoring mechanisms

The below human rights bodies review the following nine core United Nations human rights treaties:

- International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights
- International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights
- International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination
- Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women
- Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment
- Convention on the Rights of the Child
- Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities
- International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families
- International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance

Treaty-based mechanism

Treaty monitoring bodies

- Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD)
- Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (CESRC)
- Human Rights Committee (CCPR)
- Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW)
- Committee Against Torture (CAT)
- Committee on the Rights of the Child (CRC)
- Committee on Migrant Workers (CMW)
- Subcommittee on Prevention of Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (SPT)
- Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD)
- Committee on Enforced Disappearances (CED)

UN Charter-based mechanism

UN Human Rights Council

A subsidiary body of the UN General Assembly and the main intergovernmental body in the UN responsible for human rights.

Special Procedures

Independent human rights experts with mandates to report and advise on human rights from a thematic or country-specific perspective.

Universal Periodic Review

State-led mechanism that conducts a peer review of the human rights situation of each UN Member State

Human Rights Council-mandated Investigative Bodies

The Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) provides expertise and support to all of the different human rights bodies.

Human rights and rule of law (4 pillars of Rule of Law Report)

Pillar 1: Justice System

There is no true respect for the rule of law without a judicial power guaranteeing compliance therewith. Judges guarantee compliance with laws and with it the reality of democratic coexistence. The duty to promote equality among all persons, especially to ensure that everyone has the right to access justice on an equal basis with others, rests with the judiciary. Guaranteeing access to justice is indispensable to democratic governance and the rule of law, as well as to combating inequality and exclusion.

Respecting the rule of law through fostering the separation of powers and the independence of justice ensures protection of human rights. The judiciary is the ultimate guarantors of human rights. However, at the same time, judges, prosecutors and lawyers are subject to attacks and violations of their rights, including threats, intimidation, external interference in conducting their professional activities, arbitrary detention, prosecution, and killings. These attacks threaten the impartiality and independence of the judiciary and the legal profession and in turn, deter their role as guarantors of human rights and the rule of law.

For more info:

- Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary
- Human rights in the administration of justice: a manual on human rights for judges, prosecutors and lawyers
- International principles and guidelines on access to justice for persons with disabilities
- General Recommendation No. 33 on women's access to justice \(CEDAW/C/GC/33\)
- Special Rapporteur on the independence of judges and lawyers

Pillar 3: Media Freedom

Free, independent, plural and diverse media are a core component of the right to freedom of expression, a cornerstone of democratic societies and plays an essential role in strengthening the rule of law. Journalists and the media are crucial to ensure transparency and accountability for public and governmental authorities.

For more info:

- OHCHR and the safety of journalists and the issue of impunity
- Special Rapporteur on freedom of opinion and expression
- General comment No.34 on Article 19: Freedoms of opinion and expression \(CCPR/C/GC/34\)

Pillar 2: Anti-corruption

Corruption has a destructive effect on State institutions and it undermines the functioning and legitimacy of institutions and processes, the rule of law and ultimately the State itself. In particular, corruption effects on the capacity of States to respect, protect and fulfil human rights particularly of those persons and groups in situation of vulnerability and marginalization.

Corruption pose a major challenge to many societies as they divert public revenues and cripple public budgets that should provide healthcare, housing, education, and other essential services, they undermine States' ability to meet their minimum core obligations and their pre-existing legal obligations to maximize all available resources to respect, protect and fulfil human rights.

For more info:

- Corruption and human rights | OHCHR
- OHCHR Key messages on the negative impact of corruption in the enjoyment of human rights

Pillar 4: Checks and Balances

Civic space is the environment that enables civil society to play a role in the political, economic and social life of our societies. In particular, civic space allows individuals and groups to contribute to policy-making that affects their lives, including by: (1) accessing information; (2) engaging in dialogue; (3) expressing dissent or disagreement, and (4) joining together to express their views. An open and pluralistic civic space that guarantees freedom of expression and opinion as well as freedom of assembly and association, is a prerequisite for making development and peace sustainable.

For more info:

- OHCHR and protecting and expanding civic space
- Special Rapporteur on human rights defenders
- The Declaration on the Right and Responsibility of Individuals, Groups and Organs of Society to Promote and Protect Universally Recognized Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms

Romania: Inside the contribution

- Period of contribution: January – December 2025
- Contents of contribution and additional information:
 - The UN Committee on the Rights of the Child adopted its concluding observations on Romania (CRC/C/ROU/CO/6-7) on 30 May 2025 at its 99th session and the report was published on 8 July 2025.
 - The special procedures of the UN Human Rights Council sent a communication letter to Romania (ROU 1/2025, 13 January 2025) on Romania's Constitutional Court decision to nullify the first round of its 2024 presidential election on 6 December, citing substantial evidence of foreign interference that allegedly undermined the electoral process. A related press release was issued.
- Summary of information which could be of particular relevance to the Rule of Law report:
 - Under pillar 1 on justice system, relevant findings and recommendations (quality of justice) were issued by UN human rights mechanisms.
 - Under pillar 4 on checks and balances, relevant findings and recommendations (independent authorities, other) were issued by UN human rights mechanisms.
- Forthcoming relevant information (January – May 2026):
 - The UN Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination will consider the State Party report from Romania in a future session (date to be confirmed).
 - The UN Committee on the Rights of the Child will consider the State Party report from Romania in a future session (date to be confirmed).
 - The UN Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities will consider the State Party report from Romania in a future session (date to be confirmed).
- Resources:
 - Rule of Law in Europe | OHCHR
 - Country page on Romania
 - Universal Human Rights Index \(UHRI\) allows you to explore over 230.000 observations and recommendations made by the international human rights protection system (treaty bodies, special procedures and the Universal Periodic Review)

Pillar I: Justice System

There is no true respect for the rule of law without a judicial power guaranteeing compliance therewith. Judges guarantee compliance with laws and with it the reality of democratic coexistence. The duty to promote equality among all persons, especially to ensure that everyone has the right to access justice on an equal basis with others, rests with the judiciary. Guaranteeing access to justice is indispensable to democratic governance and the rule of law, as well as to combating inequality and exclusion.

Respecting the rule of law through fostering the separation of powers and the independence of justice ensures protection of human rights. The judiciary is the ultimate guarantors of human rights. However, at the same time, judges, prosecutors and lawyers are subject to attacks and violations of their rights, including threats, intimidation, external interference in conducting their professional activities, arbitrary detention, prosecution, and killings. These attacks threaten the impartiality and independence of the judiciary and the legal profession and in turn, deter their role as guarantors of human rights and the rule of law.

For more info:

- Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary
- Human rights in the administration of justice: a manual on human rights for judges, prosecutors and lawyers
- International principles and guidelines on access to justice for persons with disabilities
- General Recommendation No. 33 on women's access to justice \(CEDAW/C/GC/33\)
- Special Rapporteur on the independence of judges and lawyers

Quality of justice - accessibility of courts

Welcoming the establishment of hearing rooms for children, the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child recommends that the State Party:

- (a) Ensure that all children have access to: (i) confidential, child-friendly and independent complaint mechanisms in schools, foster-care systems, alternative care settings and detention for reporting all forms of violence, abuse, discrimination and other violations of their rights; and (ii) legal support and age-appropriate information on access to counselling and remedies, including compensation and rehabilitation;
- (b) Raise awareness among children of their right to file a complaint under existing mechanisms;
- (c) Ensure systematic and mandatory training for all relevant professionals working with children on child-friendly procedures and remedies, children's rights and the Convention. (CRC/C/ROU/CO/6-7, para.10)

Recalling its general comment No. 24 (2019), the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child urges the State Party to bring its child justice system fully into line with the Convention and other relevant standards and, in particular:

- (a) To strengthen child justice system across the country, including by allocating adequate resources to its effective functioning;
- (b) To ensure training on children's rights and child-friendly justice for police officers, prosecutors and judges;
- (c) To ensure access to and information about free legal aid for children alleged as, accused of or recognized as having infringed criminal law from the very early stage of the procedure and throughout the legal proceedings; (CRC/C/ROU/CO/6-7, para. 48)

Pillar IV: Checks and Balances

Civic space is the environment that enables civil society to play a role in the political, economic and social life of our societies. In particular, civic space allows individuals and groups to contribute to policy-making that affects their lives, including by: (1) accessing information; (2) engaging in dialogue; (3) expressing dissent or disagreement, and (4) joining together to express their views. An open and pluralistic civic space that guarantees freedom of expression and opinion as well as freedom of assembly and association, is a prerequisite for making development and peace sustainable.

For more info:

- OHCHR and protecting and expanding civic space
- Special Rapporteur on human rights defenders
- The Declaration on the Right and Responsibility of Individuals, Groups and Organs of Society to Promote and Protect Universally Recognized Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms

Independent authorities - Independence, resources, capacity and powers of ombudsman institutions

Welcoming the establishment of the Children's Ombudsperson in 2018, the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child recommends that the State Party:

- (a) Strengthen the capacity of the Children's Ombudsperson's Office to promote and protect children's rights, including through staff training on the rights of the child and related matters;
- (b) Increase the visibility of the Children's Ombudsperson, particularly through regular awareness-raising activities in schools and enhanced dialogue with civil society;
- (c) Create a platform using a simple language accessible to children to encourage them to submit complaints directly. (CRC/C/ROU/CO/6-7, para.11)

Other- domestic back safeguards to ensure editorial independence

The special procedures of the UN Human Rights Council sent a communication letter (ROU 1/2025) to Romania concerning Romania's Constitutional Court decision to nullify the first round of its 2024 presidential election on 6 December, citing substantial evidence of foreign interference that allegedly undermined the electoral process:

- The Court's unanimous decision was based on article 146(f) of the Constitution, addressing the legality and correctness of presidential elections. The decision reportedly relied on declassified intelligence documents alleging a coordinated campaign to promote the leading candidate unfairly. According to these documents, social media platforms—including Telegram, Facebook, and particularly TikTok—were used to amplify the candidate's narrative and influence public opinion.
- The leading candidate has reportedly called the decision to annul his first round victory an "organised coup." His opponent in the presidential race also reportedly condemned the court's annulment, calling it "illegal, amoral and crushes the very essence of democracy." She maintained that the vote reflected the will of the people and was not fraudulent, even if it had been influenced.

The expert expresses great concern regarding the annulment of a presidential election's results that carries profound implications for several human rights standards, including the right to freedom of expression and the right to participate in public affairs. While States have a duty to prevent and address undue interference in electoral processes—including foreign interference—their actions must be rooted in transparent and credible evidence, as well as in compliance with the principles of procedural fairness and the rule of law.